MOODY SUPPORTERS CHARGED SCHEME TO SPEND STATE MONEY

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 23.—Relocation of the entire prison system in Williamson county—home county of Attorney General Dan Moody—is being planned by Moody supporters, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson charged here Monday.

Gov. Ferguson vetoed the bill of the 39th Legislature providing for a concentration of the prision system within 75 miles of Austin.

"This scheme would cost the people more than ten million dollars clear loss, and somebody will make a profit out of it that would make any road contract look like thirty cents," the Governor said.

Governor's Statement.

Her statement follows in part:

"In the closing week of this campaign I want to emphasize my platform declaration that I shall oppose any attempt to remove the prison location of the penitentiary system and to warn the people of what is in store for the tax payers if Moody should be elected. It will be remembered that I vetoed the bill passed by the last legislature providing for the sale of the 80,000 acres of land now owned by the prison system and to relocate the State penitentiary within 75 miles of Austin.

"This veto was distinctly a Ferguson veto and is Fergusonism in its most pronounced form. Mr. Moody of course is in favor of the law, and I have just been informed that all members of the legislature from his home (Williamson) county are to present the bill to the legislature again, relying upon Mr. Moody to approve the bill if he is elected governor.

The statement continued today that the governor understands options have been arranged or agreed upon for 10,000 acres in the vicinity of Round Rock, the price to be demanded being $200 an acre.

Claims Cost Be $10,000,000.

"This will be an initial investment to be settled on the state of $2,000,000 and it will require at least 4,000 acres to provide employment for all the convicts. The additional acreage comprising 30,000 acres will have to be acquired by the state to complete the relocation," the Governor said.

"So it is already planned in this relocation law to tax the people at least $8,000,000 for the land alone and then it will cost $2,000,000 additional to erect buildings to take care of the prison population.

"The scheme then is to offer the 80,000 acres of land now owned by the prison system at whatever price it will bring," the Governor asserted, but she believed the land will not bring anything like its real value as buildings will not be suitable for private use.

If re-elected she will veto any law attempting to relocate the prison as planned before, the Governor said.

WELL KNOWN MOVIE SHEIK DIES RESULT DOUBLE OPERATION

By Associated Press.

New York, Aug. 23.—Rudolph Valentino, original "sheik" of the movies died today. Death occurred at 12:10 o'clock eastern daylight time, at the Polyclinic Hospital.

Valentino came East several weeks ago to attend the Broadway premiere of his latest picture and to bid farewell to his brother, who was returning to his home in Italy after a visit.

He collapsed in his apartment here a week ago Sunday afternoon and was rushed to the hospital, where an immediate operation was decided upon. Local peritonitis set in shortly after the operation, and doctors announced that only his rugged constitution could save him from the dread infection becoming general, a condition which usually results in death.

Thousands of messages of sympathy from personal friends of the actor and "fan" admirers flooded the hospital throughout his illness.

The cause of death was given officially as gentic endocarditis, resulting from the double operation.

As Valentino's life slowly ebbed men, women and children gathered in the street outside the hospital in such numbers that the hospital authorities had to ask the police to disperse them.

"He passed peacefully," said Dr. Meeker. "He didn't know he was going. His last words, which any of us could understand, were spoken to me at 3:30 this morning, when he turned to me cheerily and said, "Doctor, do you know the greatest thing I am looking forward to?"

"What is it?" I asked.

"Valentino smiled and said, 'I am looking forward to going fishing with you next month. I hope you have plenty of fishing rods. Mine are in California.'"

Had Romantic History.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23.—The life of Rudolph Valentino, sheik of the movies, was colorful from the start. He was born in the little Italian village of Castellanetam on May 6, 1895. His full name was Rudolpho Alfonzo Raffaleo Pierre Filbert Guglielmi Di Valentina D'Antonguella.

His mother was the daughter of a Parisian doctor, Pierre Filibert Barbin. His father, Giovannin Guglielmi, was in his youth a captain of Italian cavalry and later a veterinary doctor.

When Valentino was eleven his father died and the future screen lover matriculated at Dante Alighieri College. Finishing there at the age of 13 years he enterd the military college Del La Bapionza at Perugia. From this school he was sent home because of breaking discipline to see the King who was visiting the school.

Next he went to Venice to try for the naval examinations but failed there and returned home for a year. He next entered the military academy at Genoa, from which he was graduated at the age of seventeen with the degree of Doctor of Agriculture.

Finding farm life little to his liking he drew all the legacy coming to him from his father and went to Paris. The Riviera and Monte Carlo followed quickly and at last Paras again and bankruptcy. According to his own accounts, he sold his automobile and two Irish jumpers to pay debts, the remainder of which were settled by his mother.

Attracted to America.

America attracted him and he arrived in New York Dec. 23, 1913, with $4,000 given him by his mother. He set out to learn English by taking private lessons. Between his studies and odd jobs he began frequenting cafes where he took up dancing.

He shifted from one job to another, tackling landscape gardening for a time in Central Park. His quest for work found him doing everything from sweeping out stores to shining brass on automobiles.

The start of his career as a professional dancer came when he persuaded the head waiter at Maxims to give him a job as an entertainer. His next engagements were as a dancing partner, but he discarded this in favor of traveling with a musical comedy road show, from which he parted at Ogden, Utah. Later at Oakland he became a dancing instructor.

Drifting to Los Angeles he met Emmett J. Flynn, film director, who gave him his first part in a picture as "heavy" at $50 a week. After appearing in several pictures he was selected by June Mathes, scenario writer, for the part of Julio in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," a role which started him on the road to fame.

Married First in 1919.

In November, 1919, Valentino married Jean Acker, screen actress by whom he was divorced in January, 1922.

The film career went on apace, and Valentino became a matinee idol with his appearance in 1921 in "The Shiek," the first of a series of desert romances.

Before his divorce from Jean Acker became final Valentino married Winifred De Wolfe Hudnut, dancer and adopted daughter of the cosmetics manufacturer, May 13, 1922, at Mexicali, Mexico.

He was arrested and charged with bigamy and released on bond. Later the charge was dropped. The couple were remarried March 15, 1923, at Crown Point, Indiana. A rift appeared early in 1925 in the marriage of the "Perfect Lover of the Screen" when Mrs. Valentino departed for New York to return to the stage and the professional name of Natacha Rambova. It was termed by the pair a "trial separation." Mrs. Valentino later went to France. Followed shortly by her husband. She obtained a Paris divorce last December. Valentino returned here to make "The Son of the Shiek," his last picture.

Engaged Poli Negri.

In March, 1926, announcement was made of his "trial engagement" to Pola Negri. Denied by Valentino, the announcement by the film actress was affirmed a short time later by her secretary.

On his last trip Eastward, Valentino made the front page publicity by challenging the writer of an editorial in a Chicago newspaper to a duel. The screen lover became incensed over the article, which was entitled "Pink Powder Puffs." The last sentence pronounded this question: "Why didn't somebody quietly drown Rudolph Guglielmi alias Valentino, three years ago?" The challenge was not accepted.

Valentino leaves a brother and sister in Italy.

Cheerful to the Last.

By Associated Press.

New York, Aug. 23.—Five doctors were aiding Rudolph Valentino today in what appeared to be a losing battle against disease.

The screen star was sinking in a relapse that followed apparent progress toward recovery from an operation last week for appendicitis and a gastric ulcer. Two consultants summoned yesterday by the three physicians who have been attending him at Polyclinic hospital, said he had a "fighting chance" for life.

One of the doctors and a nurse spent the night at the bedside and the other four doctors slept in the hospital.

Joseph H. Schenck, head of the United Artists' Film Corporation, who holds a $1,000,000 policy on Valentino's life, were permitted to pay him what was considered a possible last visit. No other visitors were permitted in the sick room. Mr. Schenck's eyes were wet when he came out of the room.

"Rudy is a very sick man," said Mr. Schenck. "It is tragic to see how the boy has failed in the short time he has been in the hospital. He greeted me cheerfully, though. "Hello Chief," he said. "Can't you get me out of here? I've got to go on that fishing trip up in Maine. I expect to go out Tuesday or Wednesday. You don't know how near death I was last Sunday. I feel better today than I did a week ago, and better than I did yesterday." A saline solution was administered to combat the pleurisy which overcame Valentino's left lung Saturday. In addition to the pleurisy it was found that local peritonitis, or poisoning in the operative region, was spreading after having decreased its area.

REINFORCEMENTS

SIMMS WELL GOOD FOR 45 BARRELS AN HOUR; IS INCREASING

Water was encountered in the Thompson & Upchurch well on the Wolens tract between Mildred and Navarro Sunday after the bailer had been run. The depth of the hole is 2,942 feet. This is the top sand, and is expected to pick up the lower sands at around 3,000 feet.

The Simms Oil Company's Rose well, drilled to 3,008 feet, is producing oil in a steady stream. The production averages 45 barrels an hour over a period of 24 hours. This production is expected to increase.

The Thompson & Upchurch well is to be drilled to the deeper sand level, and in all probability will strike oil at a depth similar to that of the Simms well.

Engineers have already been consulted as to plans for use in the construction of the new hotel and office buildings to be erected on the lot.

Some time will be required in working out the architectural plans for the buildings. Work is expected to start as early as possible.

REVIVAL MEETING OPENS MAX AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

The Max Avenue Methodists began a revival Sunday night with fine interest and a good attendance.

The evangelist, Rev. H. B. Landrum, read the twentieth verse of the second chapter of Galatians for a text. Making first a general appeal to Christians present to do some definite work in the meeting, he then marked step by step the natural process of life through the period of regeneration. To be saved means to have a vital experience; it is the coming into one's life of a person which lifts to the sublime pedestal above sin. Too many pepole are swept into the church who have no knowledge of the New Birth and who have no deep christian experinece he declared.

Services will be held throughout the week at 10:30 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Cottage prayer meetings in the afternoon at 3:30 and group prayer-meetings before the evening service at 7:45. This is your meeting, ahearty welcome awaits you. North Tenth Street at Mav Avenue. Come.

STATE AID SECURED.

County Judge Warren Hicks has just returned from Austin where he secured State aid in the amount of $16,000 to be used for the construction of a hard surfaced highway from the city limits to the State Orphans Home and the I. O. O. F. Home. Judge Hicks is to be congratulated on the success of his efforts toward getting this road paved and there is little doubt that the Commissioners Court will see that the remaining amount of money needed for the completion of this project will be forth coming. Also it is expected that the city will extend the Second avenue paving to the city limits thereby giving a hard surfaced highway from Corsicana to the two Homes. Judge Hicks also secured $30,000 for the construction of Highway No. 31 traversing the Trinity river low-lands running east and west from Corsicana. Judge Hicks is untiring in his efforts in looking after the county in highway matters. Also much credit is due him in the securing of a new and modern jail for this county which was construced during his first term in office. If he is successful in getting the State Home road paved, which is practically assured, another much needed project will have been accomplished and his term in office will be recorded as one of the most progressive in the history of the county.

DEVELOPING PARK SYSTEM.

All of the larger cities of the State are devoting much time and money in the development of an adequate park system to take care of the future needs. In many cities public spirited citizens are donating sites which will be developed by the city government. Under the caption of "Developing a Real Park System," the Fort Worth Star-Telegram carried the following recently in its editorial columns:

"Tuesday's newspapers carried mention of two donations to the city for park purposes. W. J. Baker donated one strip of land, 100x800, adjoining Forest Park, in order that the beautiful scenic drive the Park Board is developing between Trinity and Forest Parks may be carried out. H. H. Cobb, on behalf of himself and his associates, donated a strip of land, approximately 25 acres, adjoining Cobb Park on the East, which will make possible the extension of the drive through that park. Both donations reflect an excellent spirit, and in the case of Mr. Cobb and his associates this one makes about 150 acres that has been given to the city for park purposes by them.

"The plans announced in connection with these two projects bring to mind forcibly the general plan of park development now under way and the certainty that within a few years Fort Worth will have an excellent system of parks. Many persons, a few years ago, felt the methods followed by the Park Department ill-advised. They thought that instead of acquiring so many sites, the Board should devote its attention and spend its money toward bringing those it already had to the highest point of development. Now the wisdom of the course of several years ago is apparent. The sites purchased then and left undeveloped, or only partially developed, might not have been obtainable now and, if so, certainly not at the prices then prevailing."

The population of Corsicana is increasing steadily and now is the time for this city to map out a park program to keep pace with the increasing population. As in Fort Worth, sites now available for parks will not be available in the next few years. Corsicana has voted $20,000 for park purposes but that is a very small amount when it comes to park development on a scale that is needed here. If some individual or group of individuals would donate a park site this $20,000 could be used to good advantage in its development and equipment. There are any number of people in this city who could easily afford to give the city a park site. Recreational facilities are very important factors in city building.

TWO KINDS OF POLITICIAN.

The audience at a New York political meeting witnessed the strange spectacle of an office-seeker denouncing "professional politicians" as "public nuisances" and calling upon the voters to use their ballots in abating these nuisances.

This would-be officeholder was only striving to do something which the public should have done for itself at the genesis of the ballot and ballot-hunter—that is, definitely draw the lines of differentiation between the several species of politicians.

It is palpably unfair to apply the generic term politician to all seekers of public office and election engineers. Society makes a distinction between the statesman and the politician, but it should not stop there.

There are men and women eminently fitted for public office and for the public discussion of governmental problems. On the other hand, there are many in politics who are fit neither to vote nor to control votes. In politics one finds the political scientist and the charlatan and insults the former and honors the latter by calling them by one name.

A professional politician, properly so called, is a man who has made a deep study of public affairs and government and has become expert in the performance of official duties. Too often the terms applied to men who are not prepared for public life and are expert in nothing except in manipulating nominations, getting votes and living off the public treasuries.

When the voters learn to distinguish between the public-serving politician and the self-serving politician one of the greatest reforms in the history of the country will have been worked. Here is where some neologist can earn the undying gratitude of humanity.

Saturday night, August 28, the Corsicana Daily Sun will give the public election returns, both in state and county races, the same as July 24th. The state returns will be received by special Texas Election Bureau leased wire and the county returns will be phoned the Sun office by the election officials.

Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania would abolish the interstate commerce commission, pure food inspection, the government scrutiny of banks, the federal trade commission and traffic laws, and thinks that spending $3,000,000 in the Pennsylvania primary was "not even in violation of good taste."

With a system of hard surfaced highways and a permanent fair plant, the citizenship of Navarro county would, indeed, have cause for great rejoicing. Of course we will get both in time, but the delay seems so unnecessary.

Plans are materializing whereby Navarro county is expected to have the much needed junior college. Those interested in the securing of the junior college are putting forth every effort in behalf of the project.

With the extensive drilling campaign under way in Navarro county, it is only a question of time until some wildcatter's bit will pierce another producing oil sand. The wildcatter will not be satisfied until every part of this county has been given a thorough test for oil.

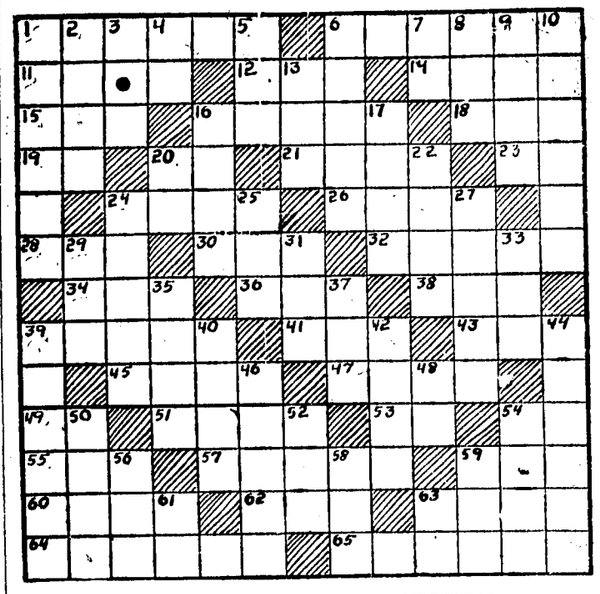

Regardless of how you vote—turn out and vote Saturday, Aug. 28. There should be as many votes polled in the second primary as there were in the first.

Remember that grass fires are dangerous. Take every precaution to eliminate this fire hazard as much as possible.

Eleventh street will soon be Main street. Why not make Tenth street Commerce street?

CHIEF W. S. KNIGHT TO READ PAPER AT ASSOCIATION MEET

Police Chiefs and City Marshals' Association of Texas will convene in El Paso in annual convention August 30, for a three-day session. An excellent program has been arranged and elaborate entertainment features will be given for the visiting officers and their families.

The address of welcome will be delivered by the mayor of El Paso. In addition to the regular order of business and the taking up of other routine matters a number of papers will be read by visiting officers. Among those who will read papers will be Chief Will S. Knight, of Corsicana, who has been assigned the subject of "How My Membership in the Chief of Police and City Marshals' Association has Benefitted Me In My Work As Chief of Police and How It May Benefit Other Members."

In discussing this subject with a Sun reporter Chief Knight stated that he received the very best of co-operation from officers in other cities of the state and that this was made possible through the Association. The chief took particular occasion to highly complement W. H. Lee, chief of police, and T. W. Jackson, chief of detectives, Ft. Worth; C. W. Trammel, chief of police, and J. C. Gunning, chief of detectives, Dallas; Tom Goodson, chief of police, and W. F. Kessler, chief of detectives, Houston. "These men have caught everything from bank robbers to petty thieves for me and their departments always co-operate with me in every way as well as do the officers in other cities of the state," the chief stated.

One of the features at the El Paso meeting will be shooting tournament in which all the visiting officers are invited to participate. Automobile rides over the city and to places of interest in and near El Paso have also been arranged.

The feature entertainment of the second day's meeting will be a trip to Juarez. The visitors will be met at the international bridge by Chief Martinez and with an escort of police with a band, will parade to the arena where Mayor Almeida will address the assembly. A barbecue with refreshments will be served as well as will other entertainment be provided. On the night of the last day of the meeing a grand ball will be held at the Hotel Orndorff. Music for the convention will be furnished by the Ft. Worth Police Band and military bands from Ft. Bliss. A special orchestrfa will furnish the music for the grand ball.

EXTENDED TRIP VIA AUTOMOBILE GREATLY ENJOYED

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Henry have just returned from a thirty day automobile trip covering 3,000 miles which carried them to points in New Mexico, Arizona, and South Texas. Mr. Henry stated they had a most enjoyable trip without car trouble of any nature.

One of the points of interest visited by the tourists was the Roosevelt dam. In speaking of this great engineering project Mr. Henry stated that the first stone for the dam was laid September 20, 1906 and the dam was completed and dedicated March 18, 1911. The dam was constructed at a cost of $6,000,000, is 265 feet high, 600 feet long, 130 feet at the base and fifty feet at the top. The lake formed by the dam, when full, is forty miles long and from one to four miles wide and the depth ranges from 50 to 100 feet. The lake contains 526,000 acre feet of water. From this dam power is furnished for all the Salt river district and for irrigation purposes.

Mr. Henry stated that two more dams are now being constructed below the Roosevelt dam by the government which will furnish additional power and water for irrigation.

Mr. Henry was very enthusiastic about the excellent roads encountered in that part of the country as well as did he praise the wonderful scenery to be enjoyed by the tourist.

POLICE OFFICER WAS IN PARTY TO SPY HOME EDITOR

By Associated Press.

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Developments have placed the Canton police department squarely in the center of the investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, and its attendant probes into corruption in official and unofficial circles.

According to information in the hands of investigators, a police officer was one of a party of four men who made two trips to the neighborhood of the Mellett home the night of the murder. A third trip was made later in the night to the same district, but the police officer was not along at that time, it was believed. One member of the group was an "unknown," believed to have been Patrick Eugene McDermott.

Approximately a dozen men, at a conservative estimate, who are or have been connected with the police department, have been tied up with the activities that culminated in the slaying of Mellett and at least two of these linked with the murder plot itself by evidence that is considered reliable but is to be further checked up, investigators say.

Police first became involved in the investigation with the second suspension of Chief S. A. Lengel about a month ago. This angle of the case was emphasized yesterday when Judge Harry Jewel of Delaware dissolved the injunction which restrained Mayor S. M. Swarts from trying Civil Service Commissioners Price Jansen and John W. Burris on charges of neglect of duty. Jansen and Burris are Lengel supporters and Judge Jewell's decision paves the way for their possible dismissal and that of Chief Lengel.

Norman Clark, former police prosecutor, now under arrest on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal liquor laws, has been definitely connected with the illicit liquor ring, it is declared. He is said to have accepted liquor from bootleggers while prosecutor.

Floyd Streitenberger was drawn into the case by Louis Mazer, who endeavored to establish an alibi for himself by saying he was at Streitenberger's home the night of the murder.

A number of arrests are expected to be made within the next few days.

GLASS CONTINUES TO LEAD TEXAS ASSOCIATION HITTERS AS SEASON NEARS FINISH

With Glass, their third baseman, the top hitter of the Texas Association, and Long leading in earned runs, hits and home runs, and Steals Cato seems to be after all of the honors of the 1926 season, Watkins of Austin, second in the race, did not get back in the game soon enough to be a real contender for first place, and will probably close the season with his average. Dashiel, Corsicana's base stealing second sacker, has 28 stolen bases to his credit.

The Club standing s remain unchanged this week, with Austin in the lead. The Corsicana Club leads in earned runs and Temple in hits. Austin has 132 home runs and Corsicana 110 stolen bases.

Walker of Palestine and Littlejohn of Austin continue to hold the high batting averages, while Whitworth of Austin has won the most games in the Association. Cox of Palestine and Whitworth are making quite a race in the strike out column and Cox is leading by one strike out this week.

The twenty-five leading hitters and pitchers winning half or better of their games follow:

JENKINS OF WICHITA FALLS IS STILL LEADING HITTER BUT IS BEING THREATENED

The changing fortunes of the Texas League race are reflected in the individual figures through last Wednesday's games. Jenkins of Wichita Falls holds his batting lead with an average of .383, threatening to give the Spudders league leaders in two successive campaigns, his closest rival appearing in a majority of the games is Oliver, Beaumont, with .358, the top figure for players in 100 or more contests. Ewell Gross of Dallas reflects the Steer slump in losing the lead in run scoring, Turgeon of Wichita Falls having 107 against 100 for Gross and 105 for C. Miller. Connolly of Beaumont still leads in hits made with 178 but is now closely pressed. By running his home run total to 21, Hoffman of Shreveport is now second to C. Miller of Dallas, 27. Galloway and Wecher have 20 each. Flasknamer, San Antonio, tops in stolen bases with 23, followed by Najo, 21.

Fillingim, Beaumont, again boasts the best pitching average, .778, while Watt, San Antonio, and Walkup, Fort Worth, have each won 18 games. Love, Dallas, leads in strikeouts with 178, Beaumont remains in the lead in club averages, .314, and leads in runs and hits made. Wichita Falls tops in homers. San Antonio in stolen bases.

CONDITION CROP AUGUST 16TH WAS PLACED 63.5 PCT.

By Associated Press.

New York, Aug. 23.—Cotton prices advanced more than $5 a bale today on the New York Cotton Exchange, large buying orders pouring into the market on unconfirmed reports of a tropical storm and rain at various Texas points, giving impetus to an earlier upward movement inspired by the government crop estimate showing half a million bales below expectations and ginning figures reflecting a late crop. Final prices for the day were 94 to 99 points net higher.

New York, Aug. 23.—Cotton prices soared $3.50 a bale in excited trading on the New York Cotton Exchange today after publication of the government crop report which was a surprise both as to the crop estimate, being about half a million bales below expectations, and the ginning figures which reflected a very late crop. CORSICANA LIONS INVITED TO ATTEND OPENING OF PORT

CORPUS CHRISTI TO STAGE BIG CELEBRATION MIDDLE OF SEPTEMBER

The members of the Lions Club of Corsicana have received an invitation from the "growlers" at Corpus Christi, urging their attendance at the port opening celebration to be held there September 14. The local Lions are also urged to sponsor an entry in the beauty contest and bathing revue offering $2,500 in cash prizes, the capital award to be $1,000.

"To usher in the new port $50,000 is being raised for the monster jubilee," the invitation reads.

"We, as co-members of a worthy organization, invite you, your family, and your friends, to come to Corpus Christi next month and participate in the celebration. We are particularly anxious that you send some young lady to represent your city in the beauty contest." A member of the Corpus Christi Lions club, DeWitt Reed, is in charge of this event.

"Corpus Christi is your port as well as ours, and we are anxious that the people of your city take an active part in the celebration of its completion and opening."

Other entertainment features, according to information received here, will be a combined army, navy and civic parade; a regatta offering $2,500 in prizes; a historical pageant, and a $5,000 fireworks display.

As far as navigation is concerned, the port of Corpus Christi can now be entered by the sea going vessels. A small amount of work is yet to be done on the wharves and terminals. Everything will be in readiness by the opening day it is said.

FOURTEENTH WELL NIGGER CREEK FIELD CAME IN SATURDAY

The Transcontinental Oil & Gas Company's Erskine No. 1 well in Nigger Creek was completed Saturday night good for about 2,500 barrels oil a day flush production. The sand was found at a depth of 2,824-28 feet.

The Erskine No. 1 makes the tourteenth well discovered in the new field. Off-setting this well is the E. L. Smith Company's Rosson test on block 29. It is drilling around 2,800 feet and is the next completion due. Casing will be set within a day or two.

Bass et al test on the Nigger Creek church lot, located on the east bank of the Navasota river, and the farthest test southwest from the main field, hit the top of the Austin chalk at 2,470 feet early last week, with a surface elevation of 459 feet. This test is in very doubtful territory, but may be in the pay if a thin chalk layer is penetrated.

The thirteen wells already completed have been producing 13,000 barrels crude a day. The Erskine well runs the daily production report up considerably.

The other thirteen wells are the following:

Transcontinental Cochrum No. 1, 370 barrels.

Transcontinental Rosson No. 1, 295 barrels.

Transcontinental Rosson No. 3, 2,790 barrels.

Transcontinental Rosson No. 2, 1319 barrels.

Transcontinental Rosson No. 2-A 1798 barrels.

Transcontinental Cogdell No. 1, 1037 barrels.

Transcontinental Cogdell No. 3, 150 barrels.

Transcontinental Atkins No. 1, 710 barrels.

Transcontinental total, 8,469 barrels.

Godley-Cranfill and Seay, Rosson No. 1, 1692 barrels.

Murchison and Fain, Rosson No. 1, 600 barrels.

Moss & Keeling, Rosson No. 1, 2438 barrels.

Atlantic Production Company, Rosson No. 1, 674 barrels.

Pure Atkins No. 2, 130 barrels.

The price of this oil is 2:52 per barel.

Approximatey 50 operations are under way with about 700 men at work in the new field.

Catchers—Hayes, Mexia; Banner, Austin.

First-base—Alexander, Austin.

Second-base—Speer, Austin.

Center-field—Scott, Mexia.

Right-field—Miller, Austin.

Manager—Miller, Austin.

Utility—Fortier, Austin.

The above selections are based primarily on the performance of the clubs in the games played in Corsicana. In the pitching selections Walker of Palestine was selected due to his record of the season although he has not done so well in the last few days. He has won twenty-odd games and lost only a few. Dick Whitworth of Austin is perhaps the best money pitcher in the league and is a veteran. He can work often and effectively and is one of the brainiest pitchers ever in the Texas Association. He can work every two or three days and plays outfield. He will win his own games with the bat if the opposing pitcher is not careful. He is deserving of a trial in a higher League. Newman of Terrell has made a good record and is a youngster of much promise. He can pitch like a seasoned veteran with the bases loaded and the capers of the runners on the paths do not bother him in the least. Andrews of Corsicana is another pitcher who can work often and effectively and ranks with Whitworth of Austin when it comes to using his brains.

In the catching department, Ferguson of Palestine comes first. He is ready and all of the pitchers like go to the hill with Dooley behind the plate. He knows the weaknesses of the opposition and it is his work that has been one of the main factors of the success of the Pals in their rush for the second half of the season. Griesenbeck of Corsicana is a finished catcher and knows what it is all about. He and Ferguson are dangerous hitters and are likely to break up a game anytime.

Jimmy Long of Mexia is perhaps the most valuable player in the league and can play almost any position. He is a dangerous hitter as well as a long distance slugger of note. He is placed at first base as that position has less competition in this loop than some of the other positions.

Wallace Dashiel of Corsicana is given the call over other second-sackers due to his good base-running and hustling playing. He is in the game all of the time. He has stolen thirty bases and is hitting the ball at a terrific rate. He was out of the Oiler lineup for a number of games due to a broken shoulder and a broken rib.

Smalley of Palestine is also a dangerous hitter and is given the post at short stop. He ranges far and wide and gets the ball away quickly. He is fast.

Glass of Mexia is placed at third due to his terrific hitting. He has been the leading hitter of the Texas Association all of the year. Glass is dangerous at bat.

William Etheridge of Corsicana is placed in left-field principally because of his great fielding ability and dangerous hitting with men on bases.

Lovelace of Corsicana was out with an injured foot during part of the season and then played with the foot still on the "bum" and has hit for a good average this season. He is a dangerous hitter and can field far and wide.

Phipps of Terrell is a hustling star and will probably go up. He is a youngster and can hit the ball far and wide. He is placed in right-field.

In a number of the selections, there was little to choose among several candidates and different critics will choose different men but here is ours.

To the Friends of Mrs. M. A. Ferguson:

Aug. 23, 1926.

To the Friends of Mrs. M. A. Ferguson:

There is no need of further argument. The time is ripe for action. Let every friends of Mrs. Ferguson—every friend of open, visible, constitutional government in Texas—go forth valiantly in the remaining days of this campaign, and pile up for our candidate an handsome majority in the election Saturday.

Victory is in sight. A great majority of the real Democrats of Texas said they did not want Moody for governor. A majority of the Democrats want Mrs. Ferguson for governor in preference to this Klux sympathizing and controlled candidate, Moody, who, if elected, will be under obligation to, and subject to the control of, The Wizard with his dragons and titans. If Dan gets in, the real seat of Texas government will be Atlanta, Georgia and run via Dallas.

Apparently Moody has a strong lead over Mrs. Ferguson, but in reality and in fact, he has no such lead over her in the number of real voters who participated in the election. 200,000 people cast their ballots in the last primary, who intended and will bolt just as they did two years ago, if Mrs. Ferguson is the nominee this year. These are not real Democrats. Dan has forfeited his right to have his name on the ticket by the receipt of illegal contributions to his campaign funds. Then after being "treed" on this, first has it proven that the contributions were not as they seemed. Then still being unsatisfied about the matter, he goes through the formality of returning the illegal contributions. "Nuff said." We are therefore urging every friend of Mrs. Ferguson, to be vigilant in the remaining days of the campaign, and get the vote out.

Vote For
Andrew G. Steele
For County Superintendent

As I have been unable to see all the voters since the Primary, I take this method of soliciting your vote and influence.

It has been charged by some that I am "too young" for the office. I was not too young back in 1917, when the call for war came, I enlisted in the U. S. Army a claim which my opponent cannot make. I served you in France in the following drives: Meuse Argonne, Saizerals, Meuzon, St. Mihiel, Sedan. Now I am asking the privilege to serve you as County Superintendent.

There has been a number of misleading statements made about me, all of which I want to say is false. I entered this race clean and I intend to finish the same way, regardless of the outcome. I give you, as a recommendation, the voters of every community in which I have lived; at Winkler, where I was born, I received every vote that was cast—a claim which my opponent cannot make—at Birdston, where I taught school three years, I received 51 votes and my opopnent only 1. In Ward 2, Corsicana, where my opponent and I both live, I received 292 to his 188 votes.

I ask you to give me a due consideration before you cast your vote on August 28th.

Pangburn's Ragtime Chocolates are rapidly becoming nationally known. The reason for this is not so much the newspaper and magazine advertising as it is the superior quality of the ingredients that enter into them, and the care used in their manufacture. This causes a word of mouth advertisement that is the best kind and accounts largely for their increasing popularity.

Wire Wheels

The Ford Motor Company is offering their latest development the new ELECTRICALLY WELDED WIRE WHEEL with drop center rim as optional equipment for an added cost of $30.00.

This is a one piece welded wire wheel that has the strength and durability of the heavier type wheel while actually weighing 36 pounds less for a set of five wheels, than a set of four wood and metal wheels and an extra rim. This reduced weight adds greatly to the roadability of a car, reduces the unsprung weight and saves gasoline.

The New Ford WIRE WHEELS in attractive colors harmonize with the New PYROXYLIN finish of the Ford CLOSED CARS making a distinctive turn out not elsewhere obtainable in the light car field.

THOMAS ADDRESSES NAVARRO VOTERS IN BEHALF OF MOODY

COUNTY-WIDE RALLY HELD COURT HOUSE LAWN SATURDAY NIGHT

Despite the rain late Saturday which for a time threatened to cause the Dan Moody rally to be cancelled, a large sized crowd assembled at the court house lawn Saturday night to hear Hon. Cullen F. Thomas, of Dallas, discuss the gubernatorial campaign. Mr. Thomas came to Corsicana at the behest of the local Moody forces. He spoke for an hour and a half from a big platform.

Judge Rufus Hardy was master of ceremonies. Wayne R. Howell, city attorney, introduced Mr. Thomas. Judge Hardy declared that from the same platform two years ago he urged people to vote for Mrs. Ferguson. But times have changed within that time, he declared, and his appeal for votes for Moody at this time is just as urgent as it was two years ago. He urged to not become indifferent and fail to go to the polls next Saturday. He said it was not a question of beating Fergusonism, but a question of snowing them under so heavy they would never be able to rise again.

Judge Hardy's remarks were wildly cheered, especially when he went into the Ferguson record for the past two years. He discussed the highway situation, and the contracts had by the highway commission with the American Road Company and the Hoffman Construction Company, and the attorney general's services in thwarting what he denounced as a gigantic steal and waste of public money. Judge Hardy presented Mr. Howell, who in a few brief remarks stated why he supported Ferguson two years ago, and why he is supporting Moody now. He said he was an ardent supporter of Lynch Davidson in the first primary, but now since the people have spoken their wishes and his candidate was defeated, his strength and energy is behind Moody, and that he is anxious to redeem Texas in the eyes of the world and restore responsible and honest government in the state.

Cheers greeted Mr. Thomas as he arose to speak, and applause was frequent throughout the address. One time a man in the rear of the audience began to heckle the speaker and much quick-witted repartee was given back. The speaker urged a big vote next Saturday, saying that the majority for Moody should be made at least 500,000 votes. Each speaker strongly emphasized the broken Ferguson promises. Mr. Thmoas launched into the issues of the campaign, ridiculing Ferguson for carrying on the second campaign after declaration had been made they would not further embroil the people in such a campaign and would withdraw. He discussed the challenge Ferguson made he would resign from the present term of governor if Moody led him as much as one vote in the first primary. This he declared was just like their public promise made two years ago, that if elected one time they would not seek re-election. These were three big promises that were held out as being with Ferguson "like scraps of paper."

"They plunge the people into a run off primary," said Mr. Thomas, "chiefly on the ground, they say, that two hundred thousand Butte supporters voted for Dan Moody in the first primary. How flimsy and fallacious this pretext after public announcement of her withdrawal.

"I am not an apologist for the Ku Klux Klan, at whose hands I suffered much. The injection of this issue in 1922 cost me a senatorship. The same issue in 1924 gained for the Fergusons the governorship. Nobody ever heard me whimper then, and Jim Ferguson should not whimper now.

"In the first primary, did Ferguson deny the right of the Butte Democrats to vote? Did he not make his bid for them? Did not some of them support him? Did he not try to corral more of them? Does he not use Klansmen when he can and abuse them when he cannot?

"Have not the Klan Democrats who bolted the Fergusons as much right in their father's house as the American party Prodigals to come back and take the head of the table and feed on the fatted calf?

"The truth is that the brass collar age in politics is passing. In the days to come, conscience and country shall be above iron-clad party regularity. What Texas needs, what the nation needs, is more courage and independence in politics. Sometimes, as men's convictions change, they change their party. In England Gladstone began life as a Conservative, and won his greatest fame as a Liberal. Winston Churchill, half-American recent Liberal in Lloyd George's Cabinet, now sits as a Conservative in Premier Baldwin's cabinet.

"Who can question the patriotism of John Church Hamilton, son and biographer of Alexander Hamilton, as he becomes an Andrew Jackson Democrat? Who does not applaud the courage of Harry Garfield, University president, son of a Republican president, as he votes for a Democratic president.

Did not Wm. G. McAdoo bolt Van Wyck and support Theodore Roosevelt for governor of New York? Did not Woodrow Wilson bolt Bryan and want to knock him into a 'cocked hat.'

Is it left to Jim Ferguson, the most agile fence-breaker in Texas politics, to proscribe two hundred thousand men and women, lifetime Democrats, because, neither two years ago nor this year, they are unable in conscience to indorse the things he stands for?

"Are their votes leprous in a Democratic primary now, when they were loyal to forty names on a Democratic ticket, but could not stomach one name then?

"Is a vote for Ferguson to be the sole and final test? Is Fergusonism Democracy?

"I favor the next legislature liberalizing the pledge on the Democratic ticket, so that hereafter no man or woman shall be charged with political infidelity because he or she cannot support every nominee from top to bottom, without stultifying conscience. Let us make our party principles so lofty, our party records so clean, and our party candidates so worthy that they will deserve general support without men and women being made to cringe beneath a party lash."

Mr. Thomas remained over night in Corsicana, stopping at the Navarro Hotel. He returned to Dallas early Sunday morning.

Mr. Thomas arrived in Corsicana on the 6:20 o'clock Interurban car and was met by a number of Moody supporters and long-time friends of the speaker. The committee escorted him to the hotel and he was dinner guest at the Navarro Coffee Shop. Attending the dinner with Mr. Thomas were Judge H. B. Daviss, C. L. Jester, Chris. L. Knox C. T. Banister, Ballard W. George, Beauford Jester, C. R. Terry and Sam J. Little.

GOV. FERGUSON SAYS FIGHTING FOR RIGHTS OF PEOPLE

NOT WILLING TURN STATE OVER TO KU KLUX WITHOUT A FIGHT

By, Associated Press.

Temple, Texas, Aug. 23.— Declaring she was fighting for the rights of the people, and the education of the children, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson here Saturday night in her first and only speech of the run-off primary said: "I will not withdraw from this contest and turn this state unopposed over to the Ku Klux."

She said she stayed in the race "that the line may be clearly drawn, and if the opposition shall win I shall bow to the will of the people. On the other hand, if I shall win in this contest, I shall expect from the opposition the same respect to the people's will. On with the battle."

Her speech: "I come home tonight to say my last word in this political campaign. As everybody knows I entered public life because of my conception of a public duty. I am continuing in public life for the same reason. I am no longer impelled by personal ambition, and whether I suffer defeat or gain victory in this campaign matters but little to me.

"I am fighting for a principle, for the rights of the people, and for the education of the children. Let me again say boldly that I did not resign and I will notwithdraw from this contest and turn this state over to the Ku Klux.

"I will not consent that anybody shall hold office in Texas that has violated the election laws. I will not leave the field to the oil companies of the state that are fighting to keep a full school term from our children in the public schools.

"If the people want a Klan supported governor, then let them go to the polls and say so. If they do not want such agovernor, I am willing to bear the cruel shafts of criticism to give them a chance to say so. If they want a candidate who breaks your election laws, let them say so. If they do not, again I throw myself into the breach and give them an opportunity to say so.

If they want to turn this state over to the oil companies that want to defeat the gasoline tax, let them go to the polls and say so. If they do want the gasoline tax for the building of roads and the education of the children, let them remember that I have not deserted my post of duty, and my name is still on the ticket and they can go to the polls and say so.

"I remain in this race in order that the line may be clearly drawn and if the opposition shall win I shall bow to the will of the people. On the other hand, if I shall win this contest, I shall expect from the opposition the same respect to the people's will. On with the battle."

CONFERENCE ON MEXICAN RELIGIOUS SITUATION BRINGS SATISFACTORY STATEMENTS

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Aug. 23.—Settlement of the controversy between Church and State seemed today to be imminent. Unless unforseen obstacles are encountered it is likely that services in Catholic churches throughout the Republic, which have been discontinued for three weeks, will be resumed in a short time.

A conference of Bishop Diaz of Tabasco, Secretary of the Catholic Episcopate; the most Rev. Leopold Ruiz Y Flores, Archbishop of Michoacan, and President Calles at the Chapultepec Palace, was "truly satisfactory" says a statement by the Episcopate.

The prelate was reinforced by President that requirements contained in the new religious regulations that priests should register with the Government authorities was made purely for administrative purposes and that it was not the intention of the Government to interfere with the church on questions of dogma.

The Episcopate has accepted this declaration and it is announced as soon as the churches have fulfilled the legal requirements there will be no further objection to resuming church services.

It is not the intention of the Episcopate, however, to abandon its intention to seek through the new congress, which will convene early next month, to have the religious clauses in the constitution amended so that the church may function unhindered by them.

Catholic merchants and manufacturers facing ruin had urged a compromise in order to prevent further pursuance of the boycott of the League for the Defense of Religious Freedom, and that financiers had informed the government that Mexican credit abroad was being menaced,are believed to have had a large share in the developments.

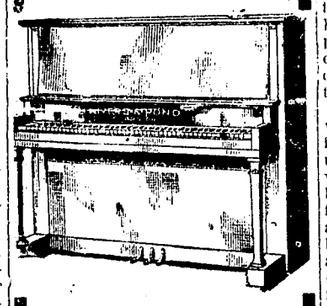

There exists, however, what might be called a militant element among the Catholics who favor continuing the boycott to the bitter end. This element will be satisfied with nothing except a conclusion, that can definitely be proclaimed a "Catholic victory."

There are also some elements within the Government itself, who are opposed to anything except a clear-cut government victory whereby the church would accept the religious regulations without qualification. It is realized that either these or other unforseen factors may frustrate a speedy settlement, but, unless President Calles or the Episcopate alters the attitude which each maintained at Saturday's conference, it is felt that the prospects continue favorable.

DR. CHAS. W. ELIOT "GRAND OLD MAN" OF HARVARD, IS DEAD

By Associated Press.

Northeast Harbor, Maine, Aug. 23.—Charles William Eliot, Harvard's "grand old man" and America's "first citizen" is dead.

The end came yesterday at the age of 92 to the President-Emeritus of Harvard University, who had been its president for 40 years prior to his retirement at the age of 75, and whose outspoken ideas on public affairs commanded international attention and respect.

He died peacefully at the home where he had spent the summer for years. His son, the Rev. Samuel A. Elliot of Cambridge, Mass., was with him at the end. He had been feeble all summer and confined to the house ,though up till a few years ago he used to row a boat, exercise at which he became adept in college days as a member of the University crew and of the first Harvard team for which crimson was adopted as the University color.

Until comparatively recently he had continued a lifelong habit of giving views on public questions. He was in his nineties when he took issue with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, on the merits of prohibition.

Dr. Eliot, revealing that he had become a tee-totaler at the age of 83, praised the Volstead act.

There will be funeral services here tomorrow and in Appleton chapel, Harvard University.

Born in Boston, in the administration of Andrew Jackson, he became president of Harvard at the age of 35 and lived to survive all but two of the 28 presidents of the United States who were his contemporaries.

Among the educators Dr. Eliot, for forty years president of Harvard University and president emeritus until his death, held a world-wide reputation as a grand old man of their profession, but his prominence extended so far beyond educational circles that he was often spoken of here and abroad as "America's first citizen." He was identified with practically every economic or social question brought forward in the past thirty years—writing and speaking so fearlessly that he was the center of as many storms of controversy and violent personal attacks as though he held public office.

Chosen to the presidency at Harvard in his 35th year, he was the youngest president in the country. He had, when he resigned in his 75th year, held the office longer than the combined terms of his five predecessors—Hill, Felton, Walker, Sparks and Everett.

He was the son of Samuel A. Eliot of Cambridge, Mass., who was treasurer of Harvard. He was born in Boston, March 20, 1834, and graduated from Harvard in 1853. In college he stood among the first in his class, and was an oarsman in the varsity crew in the days when college crews rowed in heavy cedar barges beautifully fitted up with cushions. His predilection was for chemistry and mathematics, and he was so successful in the former that at the age of 21 he became a professor of chemistry at Harvard, in preference to accepting $5,000 a year as chemist for a manufacturing concern in Lowell. He was rapidly advanced until the overseers offered him the high chair in the institution.

As president, the young Eliot set afoot so many reforms that Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes exclaimed: "He is turning the university over like a flapjack."

Forty years later when he resigned his post at his own insistence, he saw many of the reforms which he had introduced adopted throughout the country, and found himself so well established in the esteem of his countrymen that when President Taft offered him the post of ambassador to the Court of St. James, in March 1909, the press of the country was unanimous in applauding the choice as that of a most representative American citizen. But Dr. Eliot declined, saying that the preferred to spend the evening of life in a serenity that only freedom from responsibility could give.

The educational reforms which he fathered included the lecture courses as substitutes for recitations, and the written test as substitute for oral examinations; the elective system, whereby students now in practically all of the universities in the country and many of the high schools have a certain latitude in their choice of studies; the abolition of compulsory religious worship; and the institution of a three year course for bachelor degrees of arts and sciences.

It was due largely to Dr. Eliot's strictures on football as a demoralizing spectacle and unfit for college sport that the open play reforms were carried out a few years ago.

Dr. Eliot was first married in 1869, to Ellen Derby Peabody. His second wife was Grace Mellen Hopkins, to whom he was married in 1877.

REPORTED FORMER SHERIFF BELL COUNTY WILLING TO SURRENDER ON HIS TERMS

By Associated Press.

Belton, Texas, Aug. 23.—The rumor here this morning that former Sheriff Albert W. Bonds, who is charged with murder following the fatal shooting here Friday of Police Chief Wiley Fisher of Temple, was willing to "surrender on terms," brought from Sheriff John R. Bigham the statement that "no trade will be made with Bonds."

The whereabouts of the former sheriff, who fled into the rough section southwest of here following the shooting, remains a mystery to Bigham and his score of deputies who have been working on the case.

Sheriff Bigham said at noon today that it is his belief that Bonds is with friends along the Bell-Williamson county line southwest of here—a very rough and hilly region. Friends of the fugitive sheriff express confidence that he will surrender by Wednesday, although they say they have had no direct word from him, Sheriff Bigham said.

Sheriff Bigham said that no terms will be made with Bonds or any other person who violates the law, but he will be arrested and given the same protection other prisoners receive if he is located in the section where we believe he is in hiding."

MOODY RETURNS MONEY HE RECEIVED FROM CANDIDATES STATEMENT FRIDAY SAYS

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 20.—Attorney General Dan Moody has returned the contributions of Lee Satterwhite and R. L. Bobbitt, candidates for the State Legislature, he stated in a statement attached to his expense account filed with the Secretary of State Friday.

Moody's statement read that he was "creditably informed and believes that these contributions were merely transmitted through these persons and were in fact made by Marshall Hicks of San Antonio and A. B. Merten of Plainview.

In a sworn statement of expenses in his first gubernatorial campaign, Moody stated that he had received contributions of $250 each from Satterwhite, speaker of the House, and Bobbit, member of the legislature, both of whom are candidates for re-election. The election laws prohibit the acceptance of contributions by one candidate from another.

Expense accounts for the run-off primary filed today showed Mr. Moody received $668 in contributions and disbursed $48. Mrs. Miriam Ferguson expended $103 and received $114 in contributions.

CORSICANA OILERS WON HALF PENNANTS SINCE LOOP FORMED

PALESTINE AND AUSTIN CLASH FOR TITLE NEXT WEEK

BY PAUL MOORE.
Sun Sports Editor.

The 1926 season of the Texas Baseball Association will be officially ended with the playing of the series next week between the Palestine Pals and the Austin Senators, winners of the second and first half, respectively. The official schedule will be concluded with the games in the various cities Sunday afternoon.

This series will be watched with considerable interest. The Pals started the second half of the season with a jump under the management of Bob Countryman and with the acquisition of several new players. The team mowed down the opposition with deadly precision and enjoyed a commanding lead for the majority of that time The pitching staff of the club held up remarkably well, especially considering that Polvogt, the leading hitter of the club, is hitting only .279. The team is one of the greatest defensive teams ever gathered together in the Texas Association and was much like the famous Corsicana Oilers of 1924 that had one hitter above the .300 mark and that was Etheridge who was hitting .305. Lovelace was with Corsicana at the end of the season and was hitting higher than that but he had not been with the Oilers all of the season.

The Austin club is composed of a bunch of hitters, practically any of which are likely to break up a ball game. The Austin club won the first half in a sensational battle with the Terrell Cubs. Austin was only about a game ahead of the Cubs when the second half was finished. When Watkins of Austin went out with a broken ankle, the team got into a slump for several weeks and did not rally until the latter portion of the season when they uncorked a sensational rush and passed the Gushers and Oilers. However, Palestine cinched the pennant of the second half off Austin when they took the final series of the half a few days ago. Watkins is still crippled but may get in this series due to his terrific hitting. Walter Alexander, former Texas Association and East Texas League skipper, has been with the Senators during the second half and has materially aided the Austin entry. He is a smart baseball man and has aided Miller.

The first two games of the play-off series between Palestine and Austin will be played in Palestine. This was determined several days in Palestine by the toss of a coin. Palestine won. The games will be played Tuesday and Wednesday. The series will be then shifted to Austin where enough games will be played to determine the championship. The team winning three games first will be declared 1926 champion and will earn the right to meet the Longview Cannibals of the East Texas League in the Lone Star Series.

Longview Strong.

Longview is under the management of Benny Brownlow, former manager of the Austin Senators. Nothing would please him more than to play the series with the Senators. The Longview club won the first half of the season with ease. The team slumped during the first of the second half and several weeks ago, started a winning streak that went for seventeen games and to the top of the percentage column. All of the wiseacres figured that Texarkana would cop the second half but the Cannibals devoured the Texarkana club in their crucial series and won the second half also.

The Cannibals are reputed to have a great team and also doped to overwhelm the Texas Association entry, whether it be Austin or Palestine. Some have said that the team is a better and stronger team than the 1924 model of Tyler but we have our serious doubts. The 1924 team of Tyler breezed through all opposition to the title of both halves as did the Corsicana Oilers. The Trojans overwhelmed the Oilers by winning four and tying one of the games in the first of the Lone Star Series for the Class D supremacy of Texas. Corsicana was outclassed in all departments.

In 1926, the Lone Star Series was not played. Paris won both halves in the East Texas League and Corsicana annexed the title in the Texas Association. The Lone Star Series was postponed as the magnates of the Texas Association added six games to the first half in an effort to deprive Corsicana of the title and the Paris club could not wait on the Oilers as the majority of the members of the club belonged to clubs of higher classification and they were recalled.

The Texas Association was organized in 1923. The League was originally composed of Corsicana, Austin, Mexia, Waco, Marlin and Sherman. Sherman won the title of the first half and Austin won the last half. In the play-off series for the championship, a dispute arose and the last game was not played. The two teams had won an even number of games, the case was taken to the National Board and the title was awarded to Sherman.

Temple replaced Sherman in 1924 and Roy Mitchell has had charge there since that time. Harvey Grubb was manager of the Corsicana club in 1923. Otto McIver was at the helm at Sherman and Hub Northern managed the Mexia club. Waco was headed by H. A. Dupuy, who hired and fired managers galore and earned the title, "Stormy Petrel of the Texas Association." At the end of the 1924 season, Waco withdrew and entered the Texas League. Terrell replaced Waco. Walter Alexander was manager of Marlin during 1923-1924.

Marlin could not support the team and in 1925, it was turned over to the league. Palestine took Marlin's place in the first half and is the youngest member.

W. R. Davidson of Waco was the first president of the league.

A. Rankin Johnson was manager at Austin the first two years and Benny Brownlow was manager in 1925. Charley Miller has been manager there this year. Johnny Vann has managed Corsicana three years and won two pennants. Matty Matthews has guided the Mexia Gushers two years.

A. B. Johnson of Marlin was the president of the Texas Association in 1924 and J. G. McIntosh of Mexia, one of the leaders of the fight to oust Dupuy of Waco, was the president in 1925. After the re-organization of the league in 1926, Mark H. DeWitt of Corsicana was elected president-secretary-statistician-treasurer of the league. The offices of the president-treasurer and secretary-statistician were consolidated in 1926.

H. H. (Jinx) Tucker of Waco was secretary-statistician for the first two years. Charles L. Clover of Mexia was elected secretary-statistician for 1925.

Wm. B. Ruggles of Austin and Dallas was employed in 1926 to handle the statisticial work of the league this year.

Turbulent Loop,

There has been considerable rivalry and disputes in the Texas Association since its organization. 1926 is the first year in the history of the T. A. that the National Board has not been called upon to settle disputes. In 1923, the dispute of Austin and Sherman was carried up. In 1924, the National Board was brought into the controversy of H. A. Dupuy and Waco. In 1925, the National Board awarded the first half of the season to the Corsicana Oilers after the Oilers lost the lead in the six games added to the schedule. There may be a dispute carried to the National Board before this play-off series is determined, who can tell?

The short crops last year hurt the loop, especially in the Austin and Temple sectors. The attendance of Terrell has been so small that some of the series has been transferred as was the case in 1925. The fans of Corsicana had been used to a pennant winner and did not support the team put out this year by the owners of the Corsicana Oilers as has been the case in former years. The Oilers got away to a poor start after the championship team of 1925 was wrecked with the sale and draft and recall of four of the five pitchers. The training camp season failed to show what kind of material was on hand due to the inclement weather conditions and after the season started, good players were hard to find. There were about sixty or more players on the payroll. During the last half of the season, a number of good players were secured but the pitching staff did not come up to expectations and the club was handicapped with a number of injured players, Lovelace, Davis, Dashiel and others.

It looks like that this was not intended for a Corsicana year; anyway it wasn't.

Terrell, Temple and Mexia are shakey and it is highly improbable that Houston will put another club into Austin. Due to the shakey condition this year, Waco adopted the Temple Surgeons as a farm. San Antonio took over Terrell again and Houston extended their wing over Austin. Corsicana, Mexia and Palestine are independent clubs. The experiments of the Texas League members proved costly and it is highly improbable that they will take over the towns again.

The league drew much less this year than in former years and from all indications, the league is doomed. The same conditions are evident in the East Texas League. The logical thing to do is to consolidate the Texas Association and East Texas League into a strong class D league. With four of the stronger clubs in the East Texas League, or all six for that matter, and Corsicana and Palestine, a real circuit could be formed.

There was considerable agitation for this action last winter prior to the time that Texas League teams took over the faltering clubs.

At any rate, any class D league would like to have Corsicana as a member and the fans of this city need not worry much over not having organized baseball in some league. Austin, Temple and those other cities down in that section can organize them another league. Since the opening up of another oil field, Mexia may take on new life for another season or two and might make a valuable member of the proposed new loop.

DERRICK TOPPLES INTO GAS CREATED CRATER; BOBS ABOUT

By Associated Press.

San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 21.—A lost oil derrick is bobbing up and down in a cratered Refugio gas well to the awe of residents for miles around, according to reports received in San Antonio Saturday.

Churned about with rocks and loose earth in a 100-foot hole, the steel derrick has become so highly polished that when it comes above the surface and the sun strikes it those nearby are said to be temporarily blinded by the glare.

The derrick was lost when the Wheeler and Hurd No. 3 well cratered August 9 and has risen several times since it toppled into the seething torrent of sand and water in the gas filled hole.

The great gas pressure is said to be pushing the derrick into the air at intervals.

Large Hay Barn is Destroyed by Fire

The large hay barn of B. F. Norris in Hubbard was destroyed by fire which was discovered just before day yesterday morning. The fire, which is supposed to have originated from spontaneous combustion, had gained such headway when the fire fighting equipment reached the scene, it was impossible to check its spread and the entire building and contents were lost.

The barn was a large building, erected especially for the storage of hay and other feed stuff and at this time contained 1,400 bushels of oats, fifty tons of prairie hay and thirty tons of sorghum hay.

At the time of going to press the fire is still burning and water is still being poured on the fire in the hope of saving some of the oats, but there is little chance of any worthwhile salvage.

The loss amounts to about $3,000 without insurance—Hubbard City News.

FILLING STATION OWNERS HOLD MEET STOP PRICE WAR

At a meeting of about thirty-five representatives from garages and filling stations held at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce Friday night, the gasoline price war here was discussed at length relative to a fair margin of profit and a uniform retail price. Saturday morning a number of the filling stations had a posted price of 18 cents for gasoline.

No agreement was entered into by the filling stations, it was stated, and it is not known whether all of the filling stations will increase the price of retail gasoline.

The wholesale price of gasoline is quoted at 14 cents. Some of the stations have posted retail prices from 15 cents to 17 cents.

It was brought out in the discussions that a four-cent margin of profit was necessary to be profitable to the filling station owners considering the investments and expense of operating.

GUSHER WELL MAY BE RESULT SIMMS ROSE OPERATION

Simms Oil Company's Rose No. 14 between Mildred and Navarro drilled to 3,008 feet, promises to be a big gusher well, according to showings the well was making early Saturday morning. The well has not cleaned out good, but has made several large heads of oil with a terrific gas pressure.

The Rose 42-acre lease has been productive for the past three years but drilling had ceased on the lands some time ago. During the recent flurry caused in the district by the Garland Kent Wolens deep well completion, activity was resumed.

Coming from a deep sand as the new well does, oil men believe it will cause much pleasant surprise. It may prove to be a wonder well similar to the Hooser well which when drilled deeper produced more oil than any other deep well in the big field.

FORMER SHERIFF OF BELL COUNTY CHARGED KILLING

By Associated Press.

Belton, Texas, Aug. 20.—Wiley Fisher, chief of police of Temple, Texas, was shot and killed today as his wife stood at his side on the street. Fisher was preparing to enter his automobile in which were three orphaned children of Mrs. George Burtchell, killed in an automobile accident Tuesday.

The shots which killed Fisher were fired from an automatic gun in the hands of a man in an automobile who immediately left the scene in the car. Three shots were fired.

Officers said former Sheriff Albert Bonds did the shooting and that they believed he left at once to surrender in another county. Bad feeling is alleged to have existed between Bonds and Fisher for some time. Bonds was an unsuccessful opponent of Sheriff John Bigham in the recent primary Fisher taking an active part in the campaign for Bigham.

Fisher had come to Belton to attend the funeral of Mrs. George Burtchell, who was killed in an automobile wreck Tuesday night Fisher had been taking care of three orphaned children of the woman and they were in his automobile at the time of the shooting.

The car was stopped in front of an undertaking parlor where the body of the woman lay.

The man who did the shooting left immediately in his car, leaving on a road going toward Killeen. It was believed that he would go to some other county to give up.

Fisher recently was charged with criminal libel by Albert Bonds, candidate for sheriff, who alleged that Fisher had written and circulated libelous letters about him in the recent sheriff's race between Bonds and John Bigham.

Fisher was very active against Bonds in the campaign and there was strong ill-will.

Deputies at the sheriff's office said Bonds did the shooting and that Sheriff John Bigham had gone to Nolanville, where Bonds has relatives, in search of the man

Following the shooting for mer Sheriff Albert Bonds drove by Guffy's Garage, ordered his tank filled with gasoline and told Guffy, "I have jus bumped Wiley Fisher off," Guffy told officers.

Guffy said Bonds stood by his car with his gun cocked.

Mrs. Fisher was not injured.

Fisher came to Belton to attend Mrs. Burtchell's funeral and had been caring for the three Burtchell children. The shooting occurred in front of the funeral parlors.

The car in which the man who fired the shots was last seen going towards Killeen.

Fisher was active in the recent campaign in which Albert Bonds, former sheriff of Bell county, and John Bigham, sheriff, were candidates for sheriff, and worked against Bonds. The former sheriff charged Fisher with criminal libel.

Deputies at the sheriff's office said that Sheriff Bigham had gone to Nolanville where Bonds has relatives in an effort to find Bonds. A man at Guffy's garage told officers that Bonds had stopped there after the time of the shooting and had the tank of his automobile filled with gasoline. The man said Bonds stood by the car holding a gun which was cocked.

PALE & PEAKED

Texas Lady Was Advised by Her Mother To Take Cardui, Which She Did With Good Results.

Hamilton, Texas.—Mrs. Gladys Poitevint, of this city, says: "At times I suffered awfully with pains across my back and through my sides. I would have to go to bed and stay two or three days at a time. It was very worrisome. I managed to keep going, but . . . did not enjoy myself at all.

"One day my mother remarked on how bad I looked. She said: 'You look so pale and peaked, why don't you take a bottle of Cardui?' She had taken it herself a number of times, and it had always improved her health, so she thought I had better try it.

"I got the Cardui and began taking it, and from the first dose or two I could see a change for the better. The first thing I noticed was that my appetite was improved. I began to be hungry and I enjoyed my meals. I slept better at night. My rest was so much quieter that I got the benefit from it. I kept on with the Cardui and took it for several months. The pains in my back and sides grew less until they finally quit bothering me."

Try Cardui for your case.

FACTIONAL STRIFE PREVAILS OVER BELL COUNTY AS RESULT

By Associated Press.

Belton, Texas, Aug. 21.—It was reported to the Bell county sheriff office at 10:15 a. m. Saturday that the automobile in which Albert W. Bonds, former sheriff, charged with the slaying of Wiley Fisher, Temple police chief, made his escape, has been found near the town of Jarrell in Williamson county, about 15 miles Southwest of here.

The report confirmed the belief that Bonds is hiding in the hill country southwest of here.

Bonds' car was found late last night at the roadside by Whitten Woodward, constable at Jarrell. In it was a note which read:

"Friday evening: My dear wife and darling boys: I am leaving this note for you. How I wish I could see you. I can't give up here and be murdered. Must leave the country and give up in another county when protection is arranged for you. Don't worry any more than possible. My friends will see after you. I will be with good friends. Sorry I can't be at Jack's funeral. Tell mother to stand it as best she can. We are sure having our share of trouble. Am sorry it had to happen but it was him or me. I'll do the best I can to take care of myself. Don't want any more trouble. Tell my darling boys hello. Tell them to be good boys. Tell my friends hello. Hoping things will work out o. k. I am

"Lovingly,

"DADDY."

The "Jack" mentioned in the note was a relative of Bonds.

By Associated Press.

Belton, Texas, Aug. 21.—Scores of heavily armed men left here and Temple early Saturday in search of Albert W. Bonds, former sheriff of Bell county, charged with the murder of Wiley Fisher, Temple chief of police, who was slain on the streets of this quiet little city Friday morning as he stood bowed in respect to a dead woman.

Throughout the night plans were laid by citizens to go in search of Bonds, who is believed by Sheriff John Bigham and his corps of deputies to be hiding in the rough country southwest of here. At the sheriff's office early Saturday all reports that Bonds had surrendered were denied. The deputy in charge said that so far as reported no definite clue as to the whereabouts of Bonds has been found.

Deputy Sheriff Albert McKay said that no request for Texas Rangers has yet been made of Governor Miram A. Ferguson, at Austin, but that all Rangers were asked to be on the lookout for Bonds. He said that he did not believe that Bonds would surrender.

County Judge J. W. Sutton said that factional differences are running high over the county; that both the slain policeman and the former sheriff have many friends in Bell county, and that had it not been for the quick work of a number of citizens in Belton Friday, that the killing of Chief Fisher would have been the first of a series of tragedies.

The men in automobiles searching for Bonds are spreading a net over the southwestern part of the county, where they believe he is hiding with friends. Sheriff Bigham is leading the force.

At Temple the body of Chief Fisher was to lie in state in an opera house until Sunday afternoon, when the funeral will be held.

Scores of people visited the body of the peace officer Friday night and early Saturday. They came from the machine shops, offices and from the farms and stood by the bier in awkward silence and paid their respects to "their chief."

USE SLUSH FUND PUBLIC UTILITIES RESENTED ILLINOIS

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Expenditures of vast sums of money in the Illinois primary campaign last April by Senatorial nominees, as revealed by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee, may result in the name of an independent candidate appearing on the November election ballot.

An investigation down-state, the Chicago Daily News says, discloses resentment against the public utilities "slush" fund of Colonel Frank L. Smith, Republican, and George E. Brennan, Democrat, Senatorial nominees.

In the same story the newspaper printed a statement by Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist, in which he said that Republican voters of Illinois should reject Colonel Smith, because he was financed in his campaign by "heads of public utilities."

Mr. Rosenwald, who is at the summer White House conferring with President Coolidge expressed doubt as to whether Colonel Smith would be seated if elected.

"If Colonel Smith does not accept the inevitable and resign, the Republican voters should place in the field as a protest candidate a strong clean Republican, on an administration, anti-corporation platform," Mr. Rosenwald's statement said.

Colonel Smith, who is recuperating from illness near New London, Conn., said: "I do not feel I am called upon to answer Julius Rosenwald or any other individual." Beyond this he would not comment but his spokesmen here declared he would not resign.

At the Senate committee hearings here it was brought out that Samuel Insull, Chicago traction magnate, contributed $125,000 to Smith's primary campaign fund; Clement Studebaker $20,000 and Ira D. Copley $25,000. A contribution of $15,000 by Insull to Brennan who was unopposed for the Democratic nomination also was developed by the committee.

Willis J. Spaulding, Commissioner of Public Property at Springfield, Ills., and Mayor James Andrews of Kewanee, Ills., were quoted by the newspaper as favoring an independent candidate.

SAYS $40,000,000 SPENT PRESIDENTIAL YEAR ON ELECTIONS

By Associated Press.

New York, Aug. 20.—Theodore Roosevelt estimates election expenses in the United States amount to $40,000,000 in a presidential year and is convinced that the convention system has been proved superior to the primary system in nominating candidates.

"Orgies of expenditure," such as were revealed in the recent Pennsylvania and Illinois primaries, he told the New York Republican club last night, are a "burning disgrace."

"As things stand, a poor man has no chance whatsoever in the primaries," he said.

"Not only has money flooded our pre-election party machinery in ever-increasing amounts, but election costs are steadily mounting. In the United States, in a presidential year $40,000,000 or more are spent in the elections. Even in an office year there is close to $10,000,000 spent."

He advocated control of the convention of a vote power resting with the voters, the convention acting chiefly as a nominating committee for primary candidates.

"Money must not control the government," he said. "We must rigidly curb the use of money in our politics."

CROP CONDITIONS IN NAVARRO COUNTY SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

There has been very little change in crop conditions in Navarro county during the past week. Cotton on the bottom and heavy black land is not fruiting as it should and in some places the boll worms are beginning to make their appearance. However, they are not doing a great amount of damage.

Cotton on the sandy and poor land is far above the average. It is also good on the mixed lands. Taken as a whole the indications are that an average cotton crop will be made in this county this year regardless of the fact that some of the best land is not producing as it should. It will be a good thing for the farmers, and the county in general, if the bumper crop that first indications pointed to is not made. Prices will be better and it can be gathered in less time and with less expense.

The best feed crop in years will cut down a heavy expense to the farmers and will enable them to use their cotton money for liquidation of debts and for purchasing of supplies.

He said he preferred a contest based on accomplishment rather than on appearance, charm, volume and clarity.

Patzel limbered up his voice at the hog yards here yesterday. The minute his lyrical cadences began, a quiet yard scene was transformed into intense activity of porkers speeding in answer to his sibilant invitation.

Latest Cotton Picking Season Since 1919

If not properly cleaned and ginned right we will have some low grade cotton. We have just completed a new cotton house and a general overhauling on the plant, which we think will be appreciated by those who give us an opportunity to serve them.

Yours for Better Service,

Pickett Gin Co.

Under New Management

ATTENTION FARMERS!

Three Reasons Why You Should Gin With Us:

1—Because we put your cotton in a square bale, where you have more than one buyer to sell to.

2—Because we see that it is ginned right, in order that you get the best sample and turnout possible.

3—Because you will always find us in line on seed and remnant cotton prices and better service for the same money, and a square deal.
